Dawkins & Silverman

Discuss Brief Candle in the Dark

Two great scientific minds are eagerly awaited for the first major Freethought event in the Tampa Bay area in quite some time. Those who were lucky enough to be among the 800 who purchased tickets early for the October 10th event, will be in for a unique and wonderful experience.

Doctor Richard Dawkins is a preeminent evolutionary biologist and a well known critic of religious orthodoxy. Mathematician Herb Silverman is as known for his witty repartee as Dawkins is for his snappy comebacks. It will not be a dull evening. Both are internationally renowned as leaders of the freethought/atheist/humanist movement now gaining momentum across the globe. As part of this event, participants will receive a complimentary autographed copy of Dawkin's biography they will be discussing.

Dr. Richard Dawkins

Dr. Herb Silverman

Resurgent

The air is almost electric with the crackle, zing, and fizz of renewed interest in the Freethought movement here in the Tampa Bay area. The arrival of Richard Dawkins in our midst marks a turning point of sorts.

In 1985 there was no organized freethought presence in the area. Now there are more than 10 such groups with many more allied groups and over 400 members. Meetup groups have memberships that total over 1000. The recent and growingly successful events of TB-CoR are yet another indicator of the expanding influence of these alternatives to conventional religion.

On the world scale, the election and tour of the current pope show another sea change in the tactics of the major religious bodies as they struggle to regain the prestige and authority that has slipped away in the accelerating evolution of the world's people toward secular forms of life.

If you are not yet a member of our movement, now is the time to join with like minded sisters and brothers everywhere who are showing that the joy of critical thinking and a superstition free existence are worth pursuing.

TB-CoR presents special dates for your calendar!

Watch Richard Dawkins when he appears on Bill Maher Oct. 2!

Humanists work to build a world in which happiness is the enduring criterion of social policy.

What is the Humanist Way?

1. To extend a human centered approach to the critical problems of life and society.
2. To encourage attitudes of kindness, compassion, tolerance and a loving generosity in human relationships, and in our treatment of all life. These attitudes help us to see ourselves in the lives of others, and encourage appreciation for the remarkable diversity of human culture and experience.
3. To develop and popularize the skills of creative and critical thinking that empower people to challenge prejudice, superstition and irrationality in every area of life. Such empowerment enables the individual to reach the highest levels of achievement.
4. To exalt those artistic and imaginative expressions of life which have been the source of the greatest pleasure and enlightenment, and which reflect compelling human truths. Through music, literature, art, dance, and other expressions, we embrace the essence of what it means to be human.
5. To explore the grounds of ethics and morality within the unfolding history of our evolving culture. Such knowledge will enable us to become effective protagonists for the happiness of the individual person. JP

The Movable Feast:

Laugh Lines Looking Back ... 9-15

1. I think part of a best friend's job should be to immediately clear your computer history if you die.
2. Nothing sucks more than that moment during an argument when you realize you're wrong.
3. I totally take back all those times I didn't want to nap when I was younger.
4. There is great need for a sarcasm font.
5. How the hell are you supposed to fold a fitted sheet?
6. Was learning cursive really necessary?
7. Map Quest really needs to start their directions on #5. I'm pretty sure I know how to get out of my neighborhood.
8. Obituaries would be a lot more interesting if they told you how the person died.
9. I can't remember the last time I wasn't at least kind of tired.
10. Bad decisions make good stories.

Three Questions of the Economy and Morality

- What constitutes a good life and how should I live mine?
- If the norms of my current civilized society no longer apply, what moral framework will I live by?
- What will be my moral boundaries?

It's important to answer these questions for yourself sooner rather than later. Egregious moral lapses usually occur in unfamiliar situations where the normal moorings which regulate our moral reasoning and conduct are absent. This situation could arise for many of us in the eventuality of a sudden energy or financial crisis in a fluctuating economy. What concerns me most is the behavior of our governments during such a crisis. What will you do if your government starts to enact laws and policies which you find morally objectionable? Would you stand up and risk their censure or would you pretend not to notice programs or incidents which didn't directly affect you?

Cap Fossil Fuel Production Now!

Right now climate policy negotiators are hammering out an agreement to be signed in Paris late this year. Of the policy measures being discussed, some (carbon taxes) do not entail actual caps. If caps are approved, there are further decisions to be made: should we limit carbon dioxide emissions (which can be complicated: do you account for offsets, which can be gamed?) or actual fossil fuel extraction at the mine or wellhead (which is likely to be much simpler)? Then, how should remaining production amounts be allocated? A promising idea that has gleaned far too little attention is the use of rationing, via Tradable Energy Quotas.

Our climate dilemma is dire and worsening by the month. We have no time to dither. We should do the simplest, most straightforward thing and forgo an ever-larger annual portion of fossil fuel production, limiting extraction at the mine/wellhead. Then allocate produced fuels via tradable quotas to citizens on a per-capita basis and auction the rest to industry, with companies vital to the renewable energy transition either subsidized outright or given a discount on the fossil energy they use. Also, we should create one international fund for relief from climate-related disasters, and another to help poor countries do an end-run around carbon-heavy development policies by going directly for renewable energy and intermediate technology. Oh yes, and while we're at it: we should provide serious support for carbon sequestration efforts that center on soil-building and reforestation.

Will this be the outcome of the United Nations Conference on Climate Change in Paris, November 30-December 11? Don't hold your breath. But if this is what you think we should do, now is the time to say so. Richard Heinberg, Senior fellow

Meaningful Books

Revolutionaries want to tear down walls. Between 1776, when America declared independence, and 1804, when Haiti at last threw off the yoke of French rule, the compartments and divisions of established power became everyone's target. This book assiduously describes how, just as the doctrine of the universal rights of man seized the Western world, so too did an irrepressible iconoclasm.

Magnanimity is in short supply," writes A. C. Grayling is this wonderfully incisive book, "but it is the main ingredient in everything that makes the world a better place" And indeed Meditations for the Humanist: Ethics for a Secular Age is itself a generous, insightful, wide-ranging, magnanimous inquiry Order

Ingersoll on CD: 2-CD set includes "About the Holy Bible" (1894) and "Why Am I an Agnostic?" (1889). The complete texts, without one word omitted ... performed with an oratorical flourish that does justice to Ingersoll's mighty words. Plus an introduction that places Ingersoll and freethought into the context of America's Gilded Age. Two complete works of Ingersoll performed in our time! 2-CD Set, $12. Click here to order

Saturday, October 10th See AoF Meetup for details.

AoF is a comfortable and safe place in which to find rewarding new friendships, to discover hidden potentials, and make a positive contribution to your own humanity as well as that of others We are pleased to offer legal assistance with church state separation issues as an important focus. For many people, atheism represents the most focused and powerful criticism of the philosophical worldview with which most of us were raised. It is liberating for the same reason it attracts the enmity of those who are committed to the closed and changeless narrative of unexamined traditional beliefs. JP

Florida NOW

<http://www.flnow.org/>

NOW is a multi-issue political organization. NOW's self-defined role has been to initiate change for the benefit of the greatest number of people, to affect the legal and institutional structures of the society in a way that systematically expands the choices and possibilities available to all women. In this way, NOW takes action to bring women, as a class, into the mainstream of society, rather than offering aid to individual women in achieving personal solutions or temporary relief from oppression.

Humanist Families of Greater Tampa

Jennifer Hancock started this organization several years ago. It uniquely serves Humanist families with a variety of wonderful programs throughout the year. There is a strong emphasis on creative childrearing. Here, you can make connection with other families dealing with the problems of living in a society that is still hostile to an explicitly Humanist Way of life. Jennifer is author of several books including: The Humanist Handbook, The Humanist Approach to Happiness, and her latest book, The Bully Vaccine.

Humanist Families organizes social outings every month. These are opportunities to do something fun, socialize and enjoy each other's company. Sometimes we go to a park, sometimes a museum, sometimes we go swimming. Our group has grown over the past year to the point we now organize Tampa area outings and Manatee/Sarasota area outings every month.

Throughout the year we host parties like Darwin Day in February, World Humanist Day in June, Freethought Day at Disney in October and Carl Sagan Day in November.

Among our spin off groups, is a Parenting Beyond Belief group which gets together to discuss the challenges of raising children without religion. We are on Facebook. See more at: <http://www.Jen-Hancock.com>.

Thank you! Jennifer Hancock

Freethinkers@USF is a multi-cultural, interdisciplinary student society which welcomes USF students who describe themselves as atheists, agnostics, skeptics, freethinkers, humanists, or religiously open-minded who seek to promote reason, compassion, tolerance, and free inquiry on campus. We hope to contribute opportunity for interdisciplinary dialog to the USF community, and build scientific literacy for all to enable objective and rational interpretations of issues affecting our lives.

The organization is open to anyone of any religious persuasion or personal beliefs.

How to lose friends and influence fewer: On being good allies

By David Koepsell, CFI Education Director September 15, 2015

About thirteen years ago I wrote about the culture wars we faced and their roots in the Dominionist movement. Much has changed in that time, and it seems that we are winning against those forces - those who would try to undo secularism. Through victories big and small, in courts, legislatures, and by slow cultural change, we have successfully pushed back in many ways against the onslaught on secularism, although some exceptions remains, there are battles still to be fought. It is at times like this that movements become vulnerable. We are vulnerable.

Our mission and our goals remain the same: continue the project of the enlightenment, ensure safety for secularism, continue to critique religion and superstition and promote the methods of empiricism, naturalism and humanism. There are many who share some of the same goals, and those of us who work even within the same institutions have differing views on how to pursue those goals, or even differing visions of those goals. As with any "movement" it shifts and sways, alters course and accommodates changes, becomes more or less urgent depending upon the cultural milieu. And as with any movement, it depends upon groups of individuals, and individuals are prone to their own interests and concerns.

JOIN NOW

Click the Join Now button above to join or renew your member-ship. When you make a donation to CFI-Tampa Bay you become a member of a local and worldwide movement of humanists, skeptics, atheists, and free-thinkers, all working together to give voice to your values.

Why do we ask for your RSVP when we post an activity? We do like to know who is coming and who isn't. We also like to be able to plan for adequate seating or space, sometimes for reduced admission pricing.

So, please look at the calendar on the last page. It lists the links for you to click to RSVP, and to get updates to an event (such as "cancelled due to insufficient interest—too few RSVP's; or the venue cancelled, or the speaker can't make it, or the restaurant will be closed ...). If you aren't on the group's Meetup, then you won't be able to RSVP. Meetup is easy and free to join, then choose whichever group(s) you prefer. You will receive notice of each activity.
